OneLocal Bank Supports Local Classrooms with Back-to-School Supply Donation

NORWOOD, MA (September 30, 2026) — In recognition of back-to-school season, OneLocal Bank, an independent, community bank headquartered in Norwood, MA, recently donated school supplies to local classrooms.

The donation supported 10 schools in local towns and included over $3,000 of crayons, pencils, scissors, glue sticks, and other supplies. Each supply basket also included information on the bank's youth financial literacy program and included a QR code that lets teachers, students, and families download the My First Nest Egg financial literacy app for free.

While the school supplies ultimately support students, the bank also wanted to help teachers as they prepared for back-to-school season. "The OneLocal Bank team recognizes that teachers put so much of their own time, effort, and money into preparing their classrooms and making sure that their students have the supplies they need to succeed in school," comments Julie McDermott, President. "We wanted to help make this fall a little easier for them by donating supplies to local classrooms."

The school districts expressed their appreciation to OneLocal Bank for contributing to and supporting the local community. Amy Berdos, Superintendent of Schools, Foxborough Public Schools, responded, "Thank you for your thoughtful donation for our elementary schools. Our classrooms would always appreciate additional supplies."

Deliveries were made in August and September, in time for the start of the new school year.
